Why are you interested in serving on this Board, Commission or Committee?

I was approached by Ally Medina, Diane Martinez, and Scott Donahue to consider being appointed to one of the three upcoming terms for Emeryville's Planning Commission. I understand regular meeting are on the 4th Thursday, January through October and the 2nd Thursday in December all held in the Council Chambers. At a professional industry capacity, I am familiar with both residential and commercial and construction assemblies. I consider myself a designer and can able to read and draw plans, understand spatial awareness, structures, codes, construction specifications, cost estimating and budgets. I have skills to initiate and conduct studies that will align with the development of City projects. My background can comprehend variances, use permits and other planning entitlements such as types of incentives or specific development practice that meets Emeryville's vision. While most of the more recent projects that I have completed in the bay area have been residential, I have experience in schools, tenant improvements, parks, and accessibility.

PLANNING COMMISSION APPLICANTS ONLY

Please provide a short (300 words or less) statement discussing your ideas and attitudes about planning in Emeryville. Please consider issues such as traffic, industrial and commercial development density, affordable housing, maintaining community diversity and jobs/housing balance.

Emeryville's potential for development and space plus its ever growing concerns regarding traffic and encroachment will be the measurement of our quality in life. With a goal to maintain families here in Emeryville for generations to come, it is essential to keep an affordable quality of life, and a well thought out approach to site planning. It is our ideas in development that successive design is of most significant interest. It is our youth and our future generations who will measure our planning efforts. I feel to encompass visions of the past and future, a regiment of insight and information will enlighten current and new residents, give the influx of employees, and be involved offering current interests of the developers to help provide actual livability and excellent results. To learn from successes and mistakes by other districts plus redefine those ideas to make our communities better means we make our designs unique and show value. We have many visualization tools today, which have become available in just the last couple of years. These tools can help preserve the contemporary feel without forcing substandard conditions that affect emotion and budgets. As quoted by Louis Kahn, "Architecture is the thoughtful making of space." I would open up the dialog for the City of Emeryville quoting "Avoid missed opportunities so that our city can have the best experience in space." Emeryville has so far done a great job with its tested and trued living experience, and I wish to be involved and to see this continued. The available collective knowledge and information will give proposed ideas better understandings. Thus my fundamental goal is opening up dialogs, ask questions, check whether or not design solves the problem, determine if afford the cost of decisions that minimize the quality of life and could it look like something in our future.
